THE FLEUR DE LIS

The Fleur de Lis, the emblem that the Saints wear on their helmets, is a symbol from the Court of Louis XIV. It is a french word that stands for "flower of the lily."

The Fleur de Lis is a symbol of New Orleans which was adopted during the French occupation of Louisiana, from 1682 through 1762.

TOM BENSON

Owner

Since his association with the Saints began, the accomplishments of Tom Benson have been many. They are the types of successes that not only will serve his team for the future, but will reflect well the NFL, its fans, and the citizens of New Orleans and state of Louisiana.

The first winning season, first playoff appearance, first NFC Western Division title, and a winning percentage among an elite handful of clubs all have come to the team since Benson led the effort to save the Saints for New Orleans in 1985.

But there's so much more. In Benson's tenure, three Super Bowls have been played in the Superdome. Each has been exponentially more successful for the city and state than the preceding game. There will be more in the future — that carries a personal Benson guarantee.

Benson spearheaded improvements to a Superdome that will enable it to retain its ranking as the world's best stadium into the next century. He has guided the project through from the start to its completion this fall.

A sparkling new state-of-the-art facility for the Saints was a Benson vision that is now a reality.

Massive community projects, most targeting at-risk youth in the community, were developed and continue under Benson's watchful eye.

The indelible image of Benson's victory stroll with his parasol dancing high is embraced not only by the thousands of loyal Saints fans, but by lovers of the game around the world. The black fleur-de-lis on a gleaming gold helmet has become a symbol of the joy and pride that football brings to a city and a region.

Benson's flair for success and love of community have helped put both the Saints and the city of New Orleans on the fast track toward the millenium.

Named by the Governor to head the Super Bowl Task Force, Benson was instrumental in persuading his fellow owners to award Super Bowl XXXI to New Orleans in January, 1997, the only city that will host two Super Bowls in the 90's.

In 1989, just his fifth year as owner, Benson was named chairman of the league's most focal and influential group, the NFL Finance Committee. He also serves on the Broadcast Committee. He was the spearhead of a committee that negotiated a new contract for NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue. He led the task of adding the NFL's newest teams in Charlotte and Jacksonville. His leadership remains vital to maintaining the NFL's status as America's number one sport.

It became apparent in 1984 that the Saints would be sold.

Sources told Benson that the city faced losing the Saints. Prospective owners of the club had the motivation to move; if they purchased, the Saints would soon be playing elsewhere.

Benson understood all too well the impact of the Saints have on the community. While he was busy with his automotive, banking and real estate holdings, he knew that his success and that of others revolved around a number of critical factors in the New Orleans community. The Saints, he knew, were perhaps the most important of those factors to keep the city on a par in business - and image - with other municipalities.

In a crowded bank boardroom on May 31, 1985, ownership of the Saints was transferred to Benson. Actual time from Benson's initial involvement until culmination of the deal was less than five months.

Without Benson's acquisition of the team, the Saints would no longer be in the Crescent City.

A master at tackling the seemingly impossible, Benson had accomplished perhaps the most critical negotiation in the history of Louisiana sports.

Benson was born in New Orleans in 1927 and grew up on the edge of the city's sprawling 9th Ward. He was educated at St. Aloysius High School (now Brother Martin) and Loyola University. As a youngster, he played sandlot football at St. Roch Park and earned spending money delivering the Times Picayune newspaper.

After studying business and accounting at Loyola, the young Benson went to work as a bookkeeper for the Cathey Chevrolet Co. in New Orleans in 1948.

By 1956, at age 29, Benson was on his way to San Antonio, Texas to manage a Chevrolet dealership as a junior partner. Six years later he took full control of the dealership and established the Tom Benson Chevrolet Co.

That acquisition, combined with Benson's confidence and determination, spawned what is today the Benson Automotive World, a multi-dealership organization based in New Orleans with outlets in San Antonio and Corpus Christi, Texas. He also served on several advisory boards of General Motors Corp.

In 1972, Benson took another step in his business life when he entered the financial world as an investor in San Antonio's Central Park Bank. That transaction opened the doors for Benson to later acquire San Pedro Bank, Groos National Bank, and Kelly Field and Exchange National Banks in San Antonio. He also started San Antonio's Commercial National Bank from the ground in 1984.

Appreciative of the fact that New Orleans, its schools, business community and people gave him his start, Benson and his brothers, Jerome and Larry, established the Free Enterprise Resource Center at Brother Martin High School in honor of their parents, Tom Sr. and Carmen. He has also endowed chairs in free enterprise at St. Mary's University, and banking at Incarnate Word College. He serves his college alma mater on the President's Council of Loyola University.

One of Benson's most unique contributions to community came in 1994, when he introduced Benson Hoops to New Orleans, the citywide basketball program designed to involve young people at times of day when they could participate in other less desirable activities. In 1995, through the Benson Community Fund, football returned to middle schools in the New Orleans Public School System. Benson sponsors a flag football schedule to replace the sport previously removed from the middle school structure by sweeping budget cuts in the mid-1980's.

Benson has received many honors for his community involvement, a few of which are: American Tradition Award from the B'nai Brith Foundation of the United States; Rev. Jacques E. Yenni Award for Community Service from Loyola University; N.A.D.A. Northwood Institute Award for Outstanding Service to Education; Brotherhood Award of the National Conference of Christians and Jews; Order of St. Louis Medallion for dedication to church from the Archdiocese of New Orleans; 1986 Brother Martin High School Alumnus of the Year; Honorary Doctor of Science and Business from Cleary College, Ypsilanti (Mich.), 1986; Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters from Loyola University, 1987; and Honorary Doctor of Laws from Northwood University in Dallas, Texas, 1989.

His philanthropic efforts transcend his Saints participation and that of his other business interests. He has become personally involved as a spokesperson nationally for the United Way through the NFL. That, coupled with his local involvement has resulted in his appointment to the Alexis de Tocqueville Society, an elite group of the United Way's most generous donors. In 1995, he was appointed to the United Way's Board of Directors, a group charged with the administration of the organization's vast local philanthropic network.

He is one of four children and the grandnephew of the late Herbert Benson, a local architect who helped design Tulane Stadium and was one of the founders of the annual Sugar Bowl football game.

In addition to his home in New Orleans, Benson also has a 2,200-acre working ranch near that of the late president Lyndon Johnson where he maintains a game preserve, a refuge for exotic deer, antelope, and other species. The ranch also produces a special breed of Angus cattle, developed by Benson.

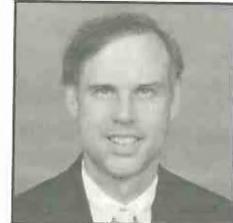

Benson and his wife, the former Grace Trudeau of New Orleans, share a family of five children, Renee', Donn, Susan, Rick and Mimi, and six grandchildren.

Archbishop Phillip Hannan blesses the Saints new facility, as Tom Benson and his wife, Grace, look on. Also on hand for the event were Father John Sokolski (left), Bob Benson and Father Adolph Kaler (right).

BILL KUHARICH

Executive Vice President/General Manager

On January 12, 1996, Bill Kuharich's football career took another step forward, when he was named Executive Vice President/General Manager of the New Orleans Saints. He is the club's first general manager since the late Jim Finks (1986-93).

"I've had a lot of opportunities in professional football," Kuharich said on the day of his promotion. "This ranks right at the top."

In his role, Kuharich will oversee all football operations, including evaluating personnel, conducting the annual draft, monitoring waivers, free agent availability, and the selection, hiring, and determination of compensation and signing of player contracts.

Although Kuharich's rise in the football hierarchy has been a gradual one, he is the NFL's third-youngest general manager at age 43. Since becoming involved in professional football, Kuharich has encountered virtually every aspect of the front office.

By the time he was 29, Kuharich was working as an administrative assistant to Carl Peterson, then general manager of the Philadelphia Stars of the USFL. A year later, in 1984, he was elevated to assistant general manager/director of player personnel. In the club's three years of existence (1983-85), it posted a record of 48-13-1, played in all three championship games, winning each of the last two.

When the USFL folded, Kuharich was hired by the late Jim Finks as New Orleans' director of player personnel, a position he held from 1986-93. In 1994, he was promoted to Vice President of Football Operations, where he served until last January.

Kuharich was exposed to football at an early age, and took advantage of an opportunity.

His father, the late Joe Kuharich, was a collegiate head coach at San Francisco (1948-51) and Notre Dame (1959-62), and an NFL head coach with the Chicago Cardinals (1952), Washington Redskins (1954-58) and the Philadelphia Eagles (1964-68). During his stay in Philadelphia, he doubled as the club's general manager. He was also an assistant with the Pittsburgh Steelers (1946). His 1951 University of San Francisco team went 9-0 and was made up of four future NFL Hall of Famers, including former Commissioner Pete Rozelle, Ollie Matson, Gino Marchetti and Bob St. Clair.

Kuharich spent a majority of his childhood around his father and the teams he coached. His summers consisted of serving as a ball boy in training camp. "I guess I was a sponge, absorbing all these thoughts and ideas from being around football people all my life, getting on-the-job training," Kuharich said. He and his father are the first father/son combination in the history of the NFL to serve as general manager.

Two straight losing seasons has not diminished Kuharich's eagerness in tackling his new post. Resiliency is a trait that he learned first-hand growing up. His father was fired after his first year as an NFL head coach, with the Chicago Cardinals in 1952. After a year as a tire salesman at Sears, he was hired as head coach of the Washington Redskins, and in 1955 was named NFL Coach-of-the-Year after leading the Redskins to a regular season record of 8-4. In 1970, his father was diagnosed with cancer and was given a year to live. He lived for 11 more years before passing away in 1981.

As general manager, Kuharich will have the chance to utilize many ideas that he acquired from his mentors. During his professional career, he has been tutored by two of the most respected men in the football business.

With the Stars, Kuharich worked under Carl Peterson, who also served as Director of Player Personnel with the Philadelphia Eagles from 1977-82, and is now the President/General Manager and Chief Operating Officer with the Kansas City Chiefs. With the Saints, Kuharich spent eight years working and learning under the late Jim Finks, a 1995 inductee into the NFL Hall of Fame who was responsible for building Super Bowl clubs in Minnesota and Chicago, and who turned around the fortunes of the Saints after just two years on the job. "These are two of the greatest people in professional football. I couldn't have asked for better teachers," Kuharich said.

Kuharich's football acumen has played an integral part of more than just the Saints' success. "Bill was extremely conscientious and extremely talented," said Peterson. "He was more than I could have hoped for and, quite frankly, he was very instrumental in our success in the league... I don't know if there's a guy who is a harder worker."

Kuharich attributes much of the knowledge he has gained in football to Finks. "No doubt about it, Jim was the greatest influence on me in my professional career," said Kuharich. "Whether I'm in the business for five, 10, 15 or 20 years, there won't be a day that I won't be able to draw on something that I've learned from him."

Kuharich demonstrates an enthusiastic approach towards his job. He is diligent, conscientious, and comprehensive. He is well-prepared, no matter what the situation.

Never was this more evident than in 1987, when Kuharich and his scouting staff were presented with a difficult challenge. The players' strike made necessary the assembly of a replacement squad. The team, constructed by Kuharich and his staff, posted a 2-1 record and kept the Saints in the thick of the divisional championship race throughout the season.

During Kuharich's tenure as director of player personnel, the Saints posted 77 regular season victories, fourth-most in the NFL over this eight-year stretch. Over the last three offseasons, the Saints have been one of the most active teams in free agency. In this time, New Orleans has signed 12 unrestricted free agents, including two transition players, wide receiver Michael Haynes in 1994, and cornerback Eric Allen last year.

The work ethic Kuharich displays can also be traced to his family roots. "From an early age, he taught us the way to do things was not to cut corners," said Kuharich of his father, a first generation American, whose family immigrated from the former Yugoslavia. "He considered the biggest sin in life was to give up, and he instilled this belief that you don't quit, and you definitely don't take the easy way out."

A graduate of Middlebury College in Vermont, Kuharich started his football career as a graduate assistant coach at Brown University in 1976. His first full-time post came as offensive backfield coach at Hawaii in 1977.

After leaving Hawaii in July of 1977, Kuharich went to work for the United States Department of Defense as an administrative assistant to field operations. During that time he also served as a volunteer assistant coach at Georgetown in 1978. He resumed his coaching career in 1979 when he assumed a full-time position as an assistant at St. Lawrence, where he earned his master's degree in education. After one year, he went to Columbia University as an assistant, and spent the next two seasons there.

In addition to his duties with the Saints, Kuharich is a member of the NFL's College Advisory Board Committee, one that advises interested and qualified college underclassmen as to their potential as draftees. He also serves on the league's College Relations Committee.

Although building successful franchises is a year-round effort, Kuharich has many interests away from football. He is a history buff, and enjoys reading and playing golf.

Kuharich, who was born March 25, 1953 in Skokie, Illinois, resides in Destrehan with his wife, Betsy, and daughters, Megan Ashley (3) and Alexis Marie (1).

JIM MORA

Vice President/Head Coach

He came to New Orleans from great successes in another league, his teams having participated in every title game the USFL played. He brought his formula for success to the Saints where it produced in the next ten seasons every significant accomplishment in team history.

When the rules changed, he was in the thick of the Saints' adjustment process as they trimmed age from their roster and dollars from the payroll to make it consistent with the NFL's new standards.

And now, at the threshold of his 11th season as Saints head coach, Jim Mora is poised to bring his team full-circle, back to days when winning seasons, division championships, and the Super Bowl were within reach.

When Mora arrived in New Orleans, the Saints had never had a winning record. In ten years, his worksheet includes seven .500-or-better seasons, four double-digit win seasons, and the only four playoff appearances in club history.

In 1991, New Orleans brought home its first-ever NFC Western Division pennant with an 11-5 mark.

A tribute to Mora's tenacity and the ability to communicate with his teams is the Saints' record of success under adverse circumstances. The 1995 season stands as a textbook example.

Last year's Saints endured an 0-5 start, one which would have doomed most teams to a permanent spot in the NFL's basement. Mora kept his team on the high road, and the Saints responded with seven wins in the final 11 games.

In 1990, Mora's inspiration kept the Saints in contention for a playoff spot. On the final day of the season, New Orleans beat the Rams to reach the .500 mark for the first time that year, and captured the final remaining NFC playoff berth.

A year before, New Orleans kept its focus after playoff elimination in week 13. In the final three weekends of the season, the Saints: with a 22-19 win, cost Buffalo the home-field advantage throughout the playoffs; won 30-20 over Philadelphia to knock the Eagles out of the NFC East title; and broke the Colts 41-6 to demolish Indianapolis' post-season hopes.

Best-remembered, perhaps, was the 1987 campaign. Through a slow start and a work stoppage, Mora kept his team focused. The team turned in a nine-game winning streak that hurdled them into the playoffs for the first time. And as they sped toward a best-ever 12-3 record, Saints fans enjoyed the euphoric ride by drafting on their team's sudden success.

For a dramatic turnaround of a before-floundering franchise, Mora earned a clean sweep of Coach of the Year honors in 1987.

Now, Mora holds the team records for seasons as head coach (10) and wins (91).

Building the Saints back for another run at the NFL championship is a familiar challenge for Mora, but in a new environment, one of free agency and complex financial guidelines.

Making the difference for Mora is his unwavering belief in time-honored methods and the fortitude to follow the blueprint devised over his 40 years in the coaching profession.

Previous to his appointment as Saints head coach January 28, 1986, Mora had served three seasons in the USFL as head coach of the Philadelphia/ Baltimore Stars. Under Mora, the Stars dominated the USFL unlike any team in any other sports league previously.

Appearing in all three league championship games, the Stars were crowned champions in 1984 and 1985. Mora's record in those three seasons was 48-13-1, by far the finest slate of any football team, USFL or NFL.

Those accomplishments, as well as his uncompromising reputation, made Mora much in demand by teams searching for new head coaches following the 1985 season. He had several offers to turn the fortunes of other NFL clubs. But of four NFL vacancies that offseason, New Orleans was most attractive to Mora. He was one of eight candidates personally interviewed by the late Jim Finks, then the Saints president/general manager.

He added the title of vice-president in 1994 to his business card, more accurately depicting his role in the changing environment of the NFL under the new guidelines.

Mora spent 23 years coaching in the college and professional ranks before embarking on his first experience as head coach of a professional team. In addition to his tenure at the Stars, he worked in seven different college and NFL organizations before joining the Saints.

A native of Los Angeles and the son of a television film editor, Mora played tight end and defensive end four years at Occidental College. His teammate and roommate, Jack Kemp, became a standout quarterback with the Buffalo Bills on his way to a career in public service. After completing his B.A. in physical education in 1957, Mora was named assistant coach at Occidental. After four years as an assistant, he was named head coach, and served three years.

He later completed his education with a master's degree from USC.

In 1967, Mora joined John Ralston's staff at Stanford as linebackers coach. There he worked with Dick Vermeil, who would later lead the Philadelphia Eagles to the Super Bowl.

After a year at Stanford, Mora moved to the University of Colorado in 1968, and coached all phases of defense in six seasons on Eddie Crowder's staff.

In 1974, Mora joined Vermeil, then head coach at UCLA, as linebackers coach.

The following season, Mora moved to Don James' staff at the University of Washington as defensive coordinator. He served in that capacity for three seasons before making the jump to the National Football League.

Mora joined the Seattle Seahawks in 1978 as defensive line coach under Jack Patera. He remained with the Seahawks until 1982 when he was named defensive coordinator of the New England Patriots. Mora's defensive unit played a major role in the Patriots' march to the playoffs that year.

Mora got his first professional head coaching chance when in 1983 he went to the Philadelphia Stars of the USFL. Upon arrival, he had only two weeks to assemble a staff and prepare for the Stars' first training camp.

His team posted a 16-4 record that season, and appeared in the league's first championship game. The Stars lost, 24-22 to the Michigan Panthers.

The Stars' phenomenal 19-2 mark in 1984 was followed by a 23-3 thrashing of the Arizona Wranglers in the title game. And in the final USFL season, the Baltimore Stars went 13-7-1 and defeated the Oakland Invaders 28-24 in the championship game.

Each year, Mora's records as Saints head coach mount. Already the winningest head coach in team history, he has compiled an ten-year record of 91-72 (.558), including four playoff games. The 1990 season made him the most tenured in team history.

In a seven-year period (1987-93), Mora's Saints compiled 70 wins, third-best in the NFL during that period.

At present, he is the NFL's leader in consecutive seasons with the same team

Born May 24, 1935 at Los Angeles, California, Mora and his wife Connie have three sons; Stephen, Michael, and Jim, the Saints' defensive backs coach, and two grandchildren.

PLAYER PERSONNEL

CHET FRANKLIN, Director of Pro Personnel

Chet Franklin is in his third season with the Saints as Director of Pro Personnel, following a three-year tenure (1990-92) as director of player personnel for the World League of American Football. This is Franklin's second stint in New Orleans, having served as the Saints defensive backfield coach under Dick Nolan from 1978-79.

As director of pro personnel, a post created in 1994, Franklin fills a three-fold role with the club. He is responsible for evaluating current NFL players. He works closely with General Manager Bill Kuharich and Head Coach Jim Mora on pro personnel matters, including ready-list maintenance, waiver claims and in unrestricted free agency. He also assists with contract negotiations.

During his tenure with the World League, Franklin was responsible for stocking WL rosters. He identified and signed more than 1,100 players to contracts over that span. In the league's final season (1992), he served as general manager of the Montreal Machine.

Franklin possesses NFL experience at both the coaching and administrative levels. He served as director of player personnel for the San Diego Chargers from 1987-89, after 16 seasons as an assistant coach with San Francisco (1971-74), Kansas City (1975-77), New Orleans (1978-79) and the Oakland/Los Angles Raiders (1980-86). Franklin was the defensive backs coach on two Raiders Super Bowl Championship teams.

Before entering the pro ranks, Franklin spent 12 years as an assistant at the collegiate level. A year (1959) as freshman line coach at Stanford was followed by a three-year stint as an assistant (1960-62) at the University of Oklahoma under Bud Wilkinson. From there he went to the University of Colorado, where he was a member of Eddie Crowder's staff from 1963-70. As offensive coordinator for the Buffaloes, Franklin served with Jim Mora (1968-70).

A native of Elko, Nevada, Franklin played linebacker and guard for three seasons at the University of Utah, where he graduated with a degree in history and physical education. After two years in the Marines, he earned his master's degree from Stanford in 1959.

Born March 19, 1935 in Ontario, Oregon, Franklin has a daughter, Shana, and resides in New Orleans.

BRUCE LEMMERMAN, Director of College Scouting

Bruce Lemmerman is in his third season as the Saints' Director of College Scouting, after being named to the newly created post in May of 1994.

In his role, Lemmerman is responsible for the Saints' collegiate scouting effort. He serves over the team's area scouts in the information-gathering area, and directs the organization of that data into a usable format for the college draft and post-draft player planning.

Lemmerman came to the Saints from the Canadian Football League, where he served as Director of Operations for the Edmonton Eskimos from 1989-94.

Lemmerman started his coaching career with Edmonton as quarterbacks coach in 1981. After two seasons with the Eskimos, he was named offensive coordinator for the Los Angeles Express of the USFL in 1983, and moved to the NFL the following year, where he coached the receivers, tight ends and backs for the Houston Oilers from 1984-85. After a year away from football, Lemmerman returned to the CFL in 1987 as an offensive coach with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, where he spent two years before rejoining the Eskimos in the front office.

Lemmerman graduated from the University of California-Northridge, where he earned honors in football and baseball. He played quarterback professionally for the Atlanta Falcons (1968-70). He also played nine seasons at Edmonton (1971-79) and one season for Hamilton (1980) in the CFL.

Born October 4, 1945 in Los Angeles, Lemmerman and his wife, Brigitte, have two daughters, Lisa and Jennifer. They live in Destrehan.

MARTY BARRETT, Player Personnel Scout

After 11 seasons in coaching and administration at the collegiate level, Marty Barrett entered the NFL ranks July 18, 1995, when he joined the Saints' scouting department. Barrett covers the western United States for the Saints.

From 1990-1995, Barrett worked at Rutgers University in New Jersey. He was the Scarlet Knights' secondary coach in 1990, before moving on to the administrative side, where he served as Recruiting Coordinator/Director of Football Operations, 1991-95.

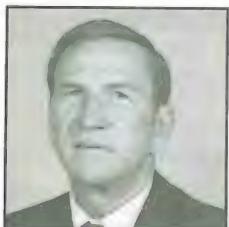

Barrett earned All-America honors as a quarterback at the University of Buffalo, 1981-83. During his career he established 14 school records and finished fifth nationally in total offense in 1983, when he was the ECAC Player-of-the-Year. He was inducted into Buffalo's Hall of Fame in 1989.

Following his collegiate career, Barrett went to camp with the Buffalo Bills as a free agent in 1984. After being released, he joined the coaching staff at Indiana University (Pa.). In 1985 he served as an assistant at Ashland University in Ohio, where he earned his master's degree in sport science. He returned to his alma mater in 1986, and remained there until his appointment at Rutgers.

Born August 12, 1961 in Buffalo, New York, Marty and his wife, Tina, live in Arcata, California.

Now in his 24th season, Hamp Cook has the longest record of service with the Saints' scouting staff. Cook, who joined the club in 1973, scouts prospects primarily in the southeastern United States. He also covers parts of the midwest.

Cook coached high school teams in Mississippi and Alabama, and was an assistant coach at the University of Southern Mississippi for eight years before joining the Saints. He graduated from Southern Mississippi with a master's degree in physical education.

Hamp and his wife, Tinkey, live in Hattiesburg, Mississippi. They have three children, Tracey, Kyle and Chuck, who is following in his father's footsteps as an NFL scout with the Kansas City Chiefs.

HOKIE GAJAN, Player Personnel Scout

Now in his 10th season as a scout, Hokie Gajan's responsibilities in the scouting department have each year been expanded. His area is among the most fertile in the country for NFL prospects.

Gajan covers the territories of Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and New Mexico in the Saints' scouting system.

He joined the scouting department in 1987 following his retirement as a player.

Gajan was selected by the Saints in the tenth round of the 1981 draft. He played full-back in New Orleans 1982-85 before being sidelined by a knee injury. He blocked for Saints tailbacks George Rogers, Wayne Wilson and Earl Campbell. Also a productive runner, Gajan holds the Saints season record for rushing average with a six-yard per carry standard in 1984.

In his four seasons, Gajan rushed for 1,358 yards with a 5.4-yard average and 11 touchdowns. His average per carry is second-best in club history. He added 63 catches for 515 yards and two TDs.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN 1996

*The Saints can extend their consecutive games scoring streak of 193. The last time they failed to score was in the 14th game of the 1983 season, when they dropped a 7-0 decision to the Patriots in New England, December 4.

*Head Coach Jim Mora needs nine more victories to reach 100 in his NFL career, during which time he has put together a regular season record of 91-68.

*Guard Jim Dombrowski can extend his consecutive games played streak of 138. If he appears in each of the first six games of 1996, he will break the current club record for consecutive games played, now held by Eric Martin at 143.

*Cornerback Eric Allen has played in 97 consecutive league games dating to 1989, and started 85 straight dating to 1990. Defensive tackle Wayne Martin has opened 80 consecutive games, all with the Saints.

*Defensive tackle Willie Broughton (97), center Jeff Uhlenhake (94), defensive end Renaldo Turnbull (92) and safety Vince Buck (84) can play in their 100th NFL contests. If Turnbull and Buck achieve the feat, they would become the 28th and 29th players to appear in 100 games with the Saints.

*Quarterback Jim Everett needs 3,417 more passing yards to become the ninth player in NFL history to attain the 35,000-yard mark. He needs 2,175 more yards for 10,000 in his career with the Saints.

*Everett needs 10 more touchdown passes to reach 200 in his NFL career. He needs two more touchdown passes for 50 in his career with the Saints.

*If Everett passes for 3,000 yards in 1996, he would tie Archie Manning's team record of three consecutive 3,000-yard passing seasons (1978-80). Entering 1996, Everett has put together seven 3,000-yard passing seasons, currently tied for sixth-most in NFL history. He would also become the first Saint since Bobby Hebert (1987-89) to lead the team in passing for three straight years.

*Everett goes into 1996 having started 32 straight games, the third-longest current streak among NFL quarterbacks.

*Wide Receiver Michael Haynes needs 28 more receptions to reach 400 for his career, 352 receiving yards to attain 6,000 and eight more touchdowns for 50.

*If running back Mario Bates leads the Saints in rushing in 1996, he would become the first Saint since George Rogers (1981-84) to top the club's rushing chart for three straight seasons.

*Tyrone Hughes needs 19 more punt returns to break the club's all-time record of 104 currently held by Jeff Groth.

*Running back Lorenzo White needs 758 rushing yards for 5,000 in his NFL career and eight receptions for 200.

September 3 at Superdome (66,627)

The 49ers took the first lead on the first play of the second quarter. San Francisco extended their margin five plays later. The Saints notched their first points of the season with 5:03 left in the half when Sean Lumpkin accounted for the first touchdown of his career. The 49ers responded with a 13-play, 62-yard drive that ended with a Doug Brien field goal with just 39 seconds to play in the half. Jim Everett followed with four straight completions, leading to a Chip Lohmiller field goal as time expired. San Francisco opened the second half with a 14-play, 86-yard drive that resulted in a TD pass with seven minutes to play in the third quarter. The Saints answered with their first offensive touchdown six plays later. San Francisco fumbled on their next two possessions after they had gotten into Saints territory. The second fumble led to a Jim Everett to Michael Haynes TD connection, with 5:43 to play. The Saints got the ball back at their own 15 with 1:54 remaining after forcing the 49ers to punt. They could only get as far as their own 40 before three straight incompletions and a fumble off a sack.

RAMS 17, SAINTS 14

September 10 at Busch Stadium (59,335)

The Saints put together an 8-play, 65-yard drive on their first possession of the game that resulted in a Chip Lohmiller field goal. The Saints' first lead of 1995 lasted for 5:47, before Chris Miller and Isaac Bruce culminated an 11-play, 68-yard drive. A field goal six minutes into the second quarter increased the lead to seven points, while an interception return for a score with 2:40 to play in the first half gave the Rams a 14-point advantage. While the Saints' defense shut out the Rams in the second half, the offense got into Rams territory three times, but could only produce 10 points. Lohmiller's second field goal of the game, with 6:13 remaining in the game, brought the Saints to within four points. St. Louis got the ball back at their own 12 with just over six minutes left. It appeared as though the Saints' defense had gotten off the field on two separate occasions on the final drive. But a personal foul penalty on third down from the Rams' 28, and a successful fake punt on fourth-and-1 from the Saints' 48, enabled the Rams to run out the clock and record their first victory in St. Louis.

The Saints were driving deep in Falcons territory late in the half, but a fumble at the 10 ended the threat. Morten Andersen notched his third field goal of the game to cap Atlanta's initial series of the second half. The Saints responded with an 8-play, 72-yard drive that ended with a leaping grab by Michael Haynes in the end zone. The Saints extended the lead on the second play of the fourth quarter, but Atlanta's 8-play, 45-yard drive which ended with a Craig Heyward TD burst and a two-point conversion, tied the contest with 6:11 to play. New Orleans got as far as their own 49 with 1:05 left in regulation, but were pushed back by three straight penalties. The Saints dodged one bullet in overtime when the Falcons got to the Saints' 29 on their first possession, but were sacked on consecutive plays. After the Saints were forced to punt for the second time in the extra period, Atlanta started at their own 6. The Falcons made it into Saints territory in seven plays, before Jeff George connected with Eric Metcalf for a 38-yard completion to the Saints' 3, setting up Andersen's game-winning field goal on the following play, with 4:02 remaining in overtime.

New York rushed for 218 yards, led by Rodney Hampton's 149 yard effort, which included four touchdowns. Both rushing figures were the most by a Saints opponent since the 13th game of 1993, while Hampton's four rushing touchdowns, tied the most-ever against New Orleans. The Saints took their first lead of the game 15-13 into the second quarter following Wayne Martin's first career interception. The Giants tied the game on their next series, before the Saints re-gained the lead on a Chip Lohmiller field goal. The Giants then ran off 24 straight points, including a Brad Daluiso field goal on the final play of the first half, and touchdown runs by Hampton on two of New York's first three drives of the third quarter. EAGLES 15, SAINTS 10October 1 at Superdome (43,938)

The Saints held the ball for nine plays and 4:13 on the game's opening series, but were forced to settle for a Chip Lohmiller field goal. Philadelphia got inside the Saints' 10 on each of their next two possessions, but could only come up with a field goal. A Wayne Martin fumble recovery thwarted the latter one. The Eagles took their initial lead as time expired in the first half, culminating a 49-yard drive which used 1:01. They extended their lead to six points on the first series of the second half. New Orleans re-gained the edge four plays later when Torrance Small took a reverse from backup QB Tom Hodson, and went around the left side for the first rushing score of his career. Philadelphia answered on the ensuing series with a 12-play, 43-yard drive that ended with Gary Anderson's fourth field goal of the game. Philadelphia went up by five on Anderson's fifth field goal, midway through the fourth quarter, after the Eagles started at the Saints' 49. New Orleans had four possessions in the fourth quarter, but could not get any further than their own 40.

The Saints scored 1:13 into the game, two plays after Renaldo Turnbull recovered a Bernie Kosar fumble at the Dolphins' 36 and one play following a 35-yard run by Mario Bates. Miami drove to the Saints' 36 on the ensuing series, but Pete Stoyanovich's 54-yard field goal attempt was off the mark. New Orleans extended the lead 1:16 into the second quarter, one play after a fourth down completion of 18 yards from Klaus Wilmsmeyer to Anthony Newman on a fake punt. The Dolphins answered with a 6-play, 78-yard scoring drive to close with within six. Miami threatened to take the lead late in the first half with a first-and-goal at the 1, but the Saints' defense forced a field goal with seven seconds left. The teams traded turnovers to start the second half. The Saints took advantage by converting two third-quarter turnovers into touchdowns, while Miami's lone score in the quarter came following a New Orleans fumble. The Saints got inside the Panthers' 15 on each of their next two possessions. SAINTS 11, 49ERS 7October 29 at 3Com Park (65,272)

A 66-yard drive by the 49ers on the opening series of the game ended when Renaldo Turnbull blocked a Tony Zendejas 37-yard field goal attempt. San Francisco took the initial lead of the day on the first play of the second quarter when Elvis Grbac capped a 10-play, 58-yard drive on fourth down. Tyrone Hughes returned a punt 74 yards to the 49ers' 5 following San Francisco's next possession, setting up New Orleans' first points of the day. The Saints got inside the 49ers' 30 on each of their last two possessions of the first half, but they ended with a missed 43-yard field goal attempt and a failed fourth-and-1 attempt. Hughes returned the opening kickoff of the second half 38 yards to the Saints' 45, setting up the Saints' only touchdown of the day, four plays afterward. Holder Tom Hodson chased down the errant snap on the PAT and found Wesley Walls in the end zone for the 2-point conversion. Two of San Francisco's next three possessions ended in turnovers. The Saints had opportunities to extend the lead in the fourth quarter when they got to the 49ers' 10 and the 15 on each of their first two drives. Those threats ended in a missed 28-yard field goal and a failed fourth-and-1 attempt. San Francisco got as far as the Saints' 41 on their final series of the game, but after a 12-yard sack by Winfred Tubbs, could not get any further and were forced to punt, giving the Saints the ball at their own 9 with 2:20 to play. Hughes finished with 78 punt return yards and 55 kickoff return yards and was named NFC Special Teams Player-of-the-Week.

SAINTS 12, JETS 0

December 24 at Giants Stadium (28,885)

The Saints had a first-and-goal from the 10 on their initial possession of the game, but had to settle for a Doug Brien field goal. The Jets got into Saints' territory late in the first quarter, but Tyrone Legette intercepted a Boomer Esiason pass and returned it 43 yards to the Jets' 22. The Jets threatened late in the second quarter when they had the ball at the Saints' 20 after Hugh Douglas blocked a Klaus Wilmelmeyer punt. But on the first play following the turnover, Wayne Martin tipped a Bubby Brister pass into the hands of Jimmy Spencer. The Saints expanded the lead when Brien capped a 14-play, 48-yard drive with 5:52 to play in the third quarter. New Orleans accounted for the only touchdown of the game, with 8:17 remaining, two plays after Jim Everett connected with Irv Smith for a 22-yard completion to the Jets' 14. New York got as far as the 8 on their next series, but could not convert on fourth-and-5.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Running back Derek Brown was the last Saint to register a touchdown in his first NFL game. On September 5, 1993 against the Houston Oilers at the Superdome, Brown scored on a two-yard run in the fourth quarter as the Saints went on for a 33-21 opening-day victory. The first Saint to accomplish this feat was wide receiver John Gilliam, a second-round draft choice in 1967. Gilliam took the opening kickoff in the club's first-ever regular season game, September 17, 1967 versus the Rams at Tulane Stadium, and raced 94 yards for a touchdown.

FAMILY TIES

In 1995, linebacker Richard Harvey became part of the third father-son combination in the 29-year history of the New Orleans Saints. His father, Richard Sr., was a defensive back with the Saints in 1971 after being acquired in a trade with Philadelphia. The first father-son duo in club history was Earl and Brad Leggett. Earl played defensive tackle from 1967-68, and Brad was a center from 1990-91. The late Steve Stonebreaker played linebacker with New Orleans, 1967-68, while his son, Mike, appeared in two games in 1994. The Saints have also had two brother tandems in their history. Quarterback John Fourcade was with the Saints from 1987-90, and his brother, Keith, was a linebacker on the 1987 replacement squad. Center/Guard Joel Hilgenberg played with New Orleans from 1984-93. His brother, Jay, was signed for 1993 following an injury to Joel. These familial connections are not limited to the playing field. Jim Mora has been the Saints' head coach since 1986, and his son, Jim, has been the defensive backs coach since 1992.

HOME GROWN TALENT

In 1995, linebackers Richard Harvey and Rufus Porter, and quarterback Tom Hodson became the most recent players from a Louisiana college to appear with the Saints. Harvey attended Tulane, Porter went to Southern and Hodson starred at LSU. That total, which now stands at 58, breaks down as follows: LSU 19, Northwestern Louisiana 8, Tulane and Grambling State 7, Southern 6, Louisiana Tech and Nicholls State 4, McNeese State, Northeast Louisiana and Southwestern Louisiana 1. SAINTS TRAIN AT WISCONSIN-LA CROSSE

For the ninth consecutive summer, the Saints will hold at their training camp at the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse. It marks the second longest stretch the Saints have utilized a training site. They held their camp at Dodgertown in Vero Beach, Fla. for 10 seasons (1974, 76-84).

Founded in 1909 as the La Crosse Normal School with 176 students, UW-La Crosse is now one of 13 four-year campuses in the University of Wisconsin system, with an enrollment of about 8,700. The University, which is known for its strong physical education program, offers nearly 80 undergraduate curriculums in four colleges - Business Administration; Liberal Studies; Science and Health; and Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Master's degrees are offered in 18 disciplines. The 119-acre campus sits in a residential section of La Crosse, a town with a population of about 50,000, midway between towering bluffs and the Mississippi River.

Players will report to the University Sunday, July 14. They are scheduled to break camp Thursday, August 1. On July 24, the team will be in Mankato, Minn. for a day of practices with the Minnesota Vikings. They will have a similar workout with the Chicago Bears, July 30 in Platteville, Wis.

SAINTS ON WWL-RADIO, WWL-TV

For the second straight year in 1996, all Saints games will be aired live on WWL Newsradio, 870 AM, a 50,000-watt, clear channel station.

It marks the third time in team history that WWL will serve as the flagship of the New Orleans Saints. WWL also carried Saints games from 1967-75, and again 1982-91.

WWL-TV Sports Director Jim Henderson and former Saints quarterback Archie Manning return to the booth to handle the play-by-play and color analysis, respectively, for all 16 regular season broadcasts. Veteran sportscaster Ken Trahan, WGNO-TV Sports Director Ed Daniels and former Tulane head football coach Vince Gibson will call the action for all five preseason contests.

WWL-TV (4) will televise the last four preseason contests, with Henderson and Manning at the microphones. The August 2 game against the Lions in Detroit, and the August 10 matchup against the Chiefs in Kansas City, will be carried live. The two home preseason games, August 17 versus the Chicago Bears and August 23 against the Minnesota Vikings, will be aired live only if sold out 72 hours prior to kickoff. If not, they would be shown on a tape delayed basis the following day.

In addition to coverage on WWL-Radio, WRNO Worldwide will carry Saints games on shortwave frequency to many corners of the world.

The following radio stations will bring Saints football to their areas in 1996 (WWL Radio affiliates as of 6/1/96):

NEW ORLEANS SAINTS FACILITY

On April 15, 1996, a first in New Orleans Saints history occurred when the entire organization moved into the club's new facility, located at 5800 Airline Highway in Metairie. It's the first time ever that Saints coaches, players and staff have been housed under one roof.

The two story, 65,000 square foot facility, which is situated on a 19.2 acre tract, contains three practice fields. Two, which are laid out symmetrically, are planted with Bermuda grass and are surrounded by an asphalt, half-mile running track. The third field is made up of 70 yards of artificial turf and 50 yards of grass. Also outside is a full-length basketball court.

The first floor is approximately 43,000 square feet, and serves primarily the needs of the players. It also consists of a reception area, ticket office, media workroom and storage areas.

The lockerroom, which is completely carpeted, contains 75 lockers, each 44 inches wide. Adjacent to the lockerroom are a players lounge and shower area that includes a built-in whirlpool and cold dip pool, sauna room and steam room. The training room consists of nine treatment tables, a three-man taping station, three therapeutic whirlpools, one Hydro Track and Biomed rehabilitation equipment. The equipment room, which includes a loading dock making it accessible for 18-wheeler tractor trailers, is 3,600 square feet. The weight room, also fully carpeted, is 4,050 square feet.

A 1,700 square foot auditorium which sits on the first floor, can seat 110 players for team meetings, and can be divided into two rooms. On either side of the auditorium, are eight smaller team meeting rooms.

Located on the second story are offices for coaches, player personnel, the video department and administrative staff. It has the capacity for an additional 23,000 square feet.
